STOCKTON IS JUBILANT

Work On the Valley Road to Begin There

WITHIN SIXTY OR NINETY DAYS

And It Will Be Pushed Rapidly Until Bakersfield is Reached.

STOCKTON, March 29.—Claus Spreckels and the other directors of the Valley railroad, with their engineer, Mr. Storey, spent the day in seeing the points of interest to them here, and they were accompanied on their drives by the local committee of business men. They visited the water front first, and later looked over the business section. They did not disclose their plans except to say that Stockton would have a railroad. It is the opinion of many that the main line will come here, but those who have the best means of guessing say it will be a branch line with the terminus on the water front. The directors and business men's committee are holding a conference tonight. Tomorrow morning the visitors will leave here on a steamboat furnished them by the business men, and will make a trip down the river to some convenient point for taking the train for San Francisco.

Stockton is jubilant tonight. The visiting directors of the San Francisco & San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company announced at a meeting of the Stockton Commercial Association that the first work on the new road would commence at Stockton within sixty or ninety days, and that work would be pushed rapidly until Bakersfield was reached. During nearly the whole of today the directors drove around the city with prominent business men inspecting all possible routes of entry and sizing up the water front and the factories. They were asked to submit a proposition before they returned to San Francisco, and tonight they met in executive session in a room at the Yosemite club, while a meeting of citizens awaited in the rooms of the Commercial Association overhead.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the directors announced that they were ready to submit a proposition. It was that Stockton take $150,000 worth of stock and furnish certain rights of way and pieces of land desired for depot and freight yard sites.

The demands are very considerate and will be fulfilled easily. The directors agree to commence the construction of the road at Stockton in consideration of what they ask to be given. Stockton will be a terminus for a time at least, and stirring times are looked for.

TERMINAL AT MARTINEZ.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad has received a valuable piece of land in Martinez containing about twenty acres, for the purpose of a terminal. It is said all arrangements for the transfer of the property to the valley railroad were perfected several days ago, and the matter has been kept a secret in order that more effective work might be done by the directors of the road in securing concessions from the people of Stockton.

The title to the terminal site at Martinez rests in the name of projectors of the Salt Lake road, many of whom have taken part in the organization of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Company.

The Martinez property is regarded as an excellent site for the grain warehouses. The land fronts on deep water, and deep water ships could sail right up to the company's wharves and load the grain hauled down from the valley precisely in the same manner as is now being done at Port Costa. While the line in the San Joaquin valley will only be a branch of the system when completed it will nevertheless be an important branch. The valley road will compete largely for the grain business of the valley.

Hot Wave in Nebraska.

KANSAS CITY, March 29.—The mercury climbed up to 86 degrees today, breaking all previous records in this city. The hot wave covered part of Nebraska and Iowa, the whole of Kansas and western Missouri. The hottest place in the country today was Wichita, Kas., with the thermometer at 90. Des Moines, Iowa, came next with 88, and Concordia, Kas., at 86. Local showers are predicted for this section tomorrow and eastern Missouri will suffer with the heat.

OMAHA, March 29.—The mercury registered 84 degrees, the warmest March weather in the state's history. The heat extended all over the state. The farmers are taking advantage of the splendid weather and are rapidly completing the spring seeding.

The Red Canyon Disaster.

EVANSTON, Wyo., March 29.—In the case of the sixty-one men killed in the Red Canyon mine disaster on the 20th, the coroner's jury, composed of Bishop James Brown, foreman of the Union Pacific mines at Red Canyon, Dr. Gamble, the coal company's physician, and James Vicars, a miner, after four days spent in examining witnesses and investigating the matter, returned a verdict this evening as follows: "We, the jury, do find that the above named persons (enumerating the sixty-one who were killed) came to their death by being killed by an explosion in No. 6 mine at Red Canyon, Wyo., March 20, 1895, the cause of said explosion apparently occurring from fire damp."

Olympia Ordered to Santa Barbara.

VALLEJO, March 29.—Orders have been received at the Mare island navy yard, directing the new cruiser Olympia to sail on Tuesday next for Santa Barbara channel for drill. On April 17th and the two days following she is to be at the port of Santa Barbara and opened for inspection. It may, however, be decided to dispatch her from San Diego to Nicaragua.

Prisoners Honorably Discharged.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Thomas B. Wallace and Peter White, arrested a few days ago on a warrant charging them with having robbed J. D. Gillilon of $359.80 while the latter was drunk, were examined before Justice Owens today and honorably discharged, there being no evidence that the accused were guilty of the crime.

Attorney Daivis Indicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—H. H. Davis, an attorney, who was charged with maintaining a relation with Claims Agent Millspaugh, by which claims against the railroad were irregularly adjusted, has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of felony embezzlement of the funds of his clients.

THE MINISTER TO HAWAII.

He is Expected to Arrive on the Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—There are indications that Mr. Willis, United States minister to Hawaii, is preparing to take a leave of absence from his post. One story is that he will go to Japan for a time, and another is that he will return to the United States. The state department officials will not say anything on the matter, but content themselves with pointing to the fact that the Minister has now been at his post for more than a year, and according to the usual practice of the department is entitled to a leave of absence if he desires it, and the conditions in the country to which he is accredited admit of his leaving.

It would not be surprising, therefore, if the minister was found to be a passenger on the United States steamship Philadelphia when she returns to Mare Island, as she must do shortly, to be cleaned and docked, if, indeed, he does not turn up before that time. During his absence the United States legation in Honolulu will be left in charge of Mr. Ellis Mills, the secretary of the legation, which will exactly correspond in official status with the Hawaiian legation at Washington. In this case the conditions will be precisely parallel to those at Rome and in Chile some years ago when Baron Fava went home, and Minister Porter spent nine months running through Switzerland and other European countries on full pay, leaving the legation in Rome in the hands of Charles Whitehouse, and the Italian legation in Washington in care of the Marquis Rudini.

The "Danish Count" Acquitted.

SAN DIEGO, March 29. — Theodore Fritz Brechner, the so-called "Danish Count," was acquitted by a jury in the superior court today of the charge of having stolen a diamond ring from Mrs. Hutchens at the Tremount house. The young man was congratulated by jurymen as well as other people in the courtroom upon the result. To a friend afterwards he remarked that today was his twenty-fourth birthday, and the verdict of the jury was particularly pleasing on that account.

GIRLS ON A RIOT.

SCREAMING PROVING RATHER TAME SPORT

They Tear Down Partitions in the Sleeping Rooms in the Home for Juveniles.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The girls in the state home for juvenile offenders who created so much trouble last night by smashing all the dishes and windows in the place indulged in another riot tonight. They had gone to their rooms for the night, when at a given signal they began to scream so they could be heard for fully a block. This proving rather tame sport, they began to tear down the frail partitions between the sleeping rooms.

As soon as a number of girls were congregated in one room, they would make an assault on the room, battering in the doors and smashing the furniture. The matron and her assistants were utterly unable to control the girls, and finally a call was sent for the police. Two patrol wagons filled with officers hurried to the home, and after a hard struggle in which some of the girls fought like wild Indians, they were all locked up in rooms, the partitions of which are proof against any attempts they can make to tear them down. There was no especial cause for the outbreak tonight.

The President Will Act.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Although it is said at the White House that the telegram from Governor Morril urging the President to extend protection to ex-United States Consul Waller, a citizen of Kansas, reported to be imprisoned in Madagascar by order of a French courtmartial has not been received, the President, after a consultation with his cabinet, has decided to act in the matter and call for a report. If the facts are as originally reported in the cablegram from Mauritius, and in this point the United States consul, Mr. Campbell of St. Louis, will be looked to for a report, then it is said that Mr. Eustis, our Ambassador to France, will be instructed to lay the matter before the French foreign offices and ask for an explanation of the course pursued by the officials in Madagascar.

Another Bicyclist Attempts It.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Undeterred by the killing of a young man yesterday who attempted to ride down a steep hill on a bicycle, a man about 50 years old tried to ride down California street hill on a wheel today. The hill is one of the steepest in the city, and when about half way down the man lost control of the machine and dashed down the hill at a frightful rate of speed. At the corner of Kearney street he dashed into a hoolblack stand and was hurled to the ground. The man fortunately escaped serious injury, but his wheel was a complete wreck. He refused to give his name and limped away with his bicycle on his shoulder.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Wheat—Very dull; December, 96½; May, 83¾c.

Barley—Easier; December, 72½c; May, 74c; seller, 61½c.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

Outline of the Co-operative Plan May Now be Had.

The committee appointed at the mass meeting of the raisin growers two weeks ago to prepare a constitution and by-laws for the organization of co-operative companies has finished its work, and the document is in the hands of J. M. Collier where the various sub-committees may obtain copies.

The work is progressing satisfactorily, by those who have in charge the work of organizing the co-operative companies. It cannot yet be stated how many of these companies will be organized, but in due course of time a report may be looked for from those engaged in the work.

New Pastor Received.

Rev. G. W. Smith, the new pastor for the Emmanuel Baptist church, was given a reception Thursday evening in the parlors of the Presbyterian church. Rev. I. D. Wood, Rev. D. H. Gillan and Rev. J. H. Collins delivered addresses, welcoming the new pastor to the city. An excellent program was rendered and an enjoyable evening was spent.

ARMISTICE DECLARED

China and Japan Will Rest On Their Arms

PENDING PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Some Doubt As to the Meaning of the Term "Unconditional" Armistice.

TOKIO, March 29.—The Japanese Emperor has declared an unconditional armistice.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The declaration of an armistice will be most welcome news to the Chinese legation, although it was received with the stolidity and passive dignity which is characteristic of the race. The first word of the armistice reached the legation through the Associated Press. Mr. Yang Yu had received no official communication from China, nor from the state department, and under these conditions he asked to be excused from discussing the action. The numerous attaches of the legation would evidently be glad that the odious and discouraging struggle was at an end. There was some doubt as to the meaning of the term "unconditional" armistice, although this was accepted as meaning that recent events, including probably the shooting of Prince Li, had induced the envoys to agree to an armistice before agreeing exactly on the terms of peace.

It is felt that the arrangement of terms will still be a difficult task. The feeling in the interior of China, where the direct effects of the war have not been felt, is very strong against a cession of territory. Moreover, the payment of a cash indemnity will necessitate the imposing of heavy taxes on the people and consequent depression. These considerations, together with the recent losses and ravages of war, make the future of China so problematical that the officers could not discuss it, beyond the probabilities of resuming commerce.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The power of the Japanese government to execute the armistice will now be put to a crucial test. The military power of Japan has almost outstripped the civil power during the war. This has caused serious concern, as it has been feared that the military element, backed by the war spirit among the people, would not submit to an armistice, even if the civil authorities ordered one. To meet this emergency, a change of army commanders was recently made. There have been three army corps operating in different campaigns, and each under a general of supreme authority over his particular campaign. About three weeks ago, in anticipation of the armistice, Prince Komatsu was created commander-in-chief over all the armies. The object of this step was to concentrate authority in one man in close touch with the imperial household, who could thus execute an armistice by a simultaneous cessation of hostilities by the army.

It now remains to be seen whether Prince Komatsu can execute the important commission given him. The splendid discipline shown by the army during the war gives assurance that there will be immediate acquiescence by the military; and yet Prince Komatsu has to contend against a war spirit inflamed by many victories. It has been said that an armistice would be so unpopular among the people and soldiers that it would assure the political retirement of two Japanese statesmen—Count Ito and Mr. Matsu—who have served as peace envoys. The full text of the cable received at the Japanese legation today regarding the armistice is as follows:

"On the opening of the negotiations the Chinese plenipotentiary proposed an armistice, which Japan was willing to accept on certain conditions. While this negotiation was going on, the event happened on the person of the Chinese plenipotentiary. His majesty, the emperor, in view of this unhappy occurrence commanded the Japanese plenipotentiaries to consent to a temporary armistice without conditions. This was communicated to the Chinese plenipotentiary."

INSURANCE RATE WAR.

Band Wagons With Music Used to Advertise Terms.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The insurance rate war has been transferred from this city to Oakland. Today the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company issued a circular, in which, while deprecating rate wars, the company states that it is tired of working a legitimate business against companies that violate their pledges. So it invites the public to bring, send by mail or express, their policies to the company's office, which will be open during the entire twenty-four hours, and where policies will be rewritten at the lowest rates. The Firemen's Fund and the German-American have engaged band wagons with music and transparencies to advertise their advantageous terms.

Charges Not Substantiated.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Information has reached here to the effect that Captain Folger of the United States ship Yorktown, now at Che Foo, has failed to substantiate the charges made by him against Past Assistant Paymaster E. B. Webster, attached to his ship. The court of inquiry that was appointed by Admiral Carpenter to look into the matter reported that the evidence did not sustain the charges made by the captain against the paymaster of being decidedly under the influence of liquor and that the conduct of the accused in other respects was not culpable. Admiral Carpenter directed that the paymaster be furnished a copy of the report of the court of inquiry and that he be fully restored to duty by the captain.

A Moral Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The health and police committee of the Board of Supervisors have recommended for passage an ordinance preventing the display of indecent pictures. This ordinance is destined to prevent the publication or display of pictorial advertisements, theatrical posters, in which nude or partly nude figures are exposed, and the sale of indecent literature, photographs and other illustrations.

The Boat Race Today.

PUTNEY, March 29.—The fifty seventh boat race between crews representing the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge will be decided tomorrow. The hum of opinions and reasons therefor is continuous. There are slight differences of dimensions in the shells of the two crews. The betting tonight is 9 to 2 on Oxford; which crew, all watermen claim, will win certainly, barring accidents.

THE SAILORS' STRIKE.

Bonuses Paid to Men in Violation of Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Matters were easy in the sailors' strike today, two vessels going to sea, one with a union crew and the other with men who accepted the wages paid by the association. The schooner Falcon met the demand of the union, and the bark Gatherer went away with a crowd from the sailors' home.

The schooner Webfoot, lying at Channel street, is to sail tomorrow, and the presence of the police will probably be necessary, as the vessel is to take a non-union crew. Both the association and the union are settled in the conviction that they will win the fight. Andrew Furuseth, secretary of the union, said today that the association in its anxiety to get men had laid some of the vessels liable. He claimed that advances had been made in violation of the law, and that bonuses had been given to non-union men.

"We have pretty good evidence," said the secretary, "that $15 to $20 advance has to be paid to non-union men and this is clearly in violation of the law. The non-union men have also been receiving from $5 to $7.50 bonus for accepting a berth, which is another infraction of the law. Two years ago the Gatherer shipped a crew here from the Sound and paid the men an advance. When the vessel returned to San Francisco the men were taken into court and upon their evidence that they had received advances, the owners were compelled to pay them the advance over again as a penalty. The Wilna, Elwell and Cyrus Wakefield, I am informed, paid advances to their men. We will investigate the matter when the vessels return, and if the case is as reported, the owners will have to pay the penalty."

A Switchman Crushed.

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—John Maher, a switchman employed by the Southern Pacific Company, was fatally crushed by being caught between two drawheads while coupling cars this afternoon. He died shortly after being taken to the hospital. He was a native of New York and leaves a wife and child.

This was reduced by the governor to $12,810,583.18. Tax levy for forty-seventh fiscal year, 57.1 cents, realizing $6,641,366 21; tax levy for forty-eighth fiscal year 44.6 cents, realizing $5,198,581; appropriations in effect of tax levy, $322,818.16. The reductions made by the governor in appropriations amount to $1,167,712.91.

MONETARY CONFERENCE.

A Report from London Cannot be Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—It is impossible to secure confirmation here of the report from London that the United States has consented to enter the proposed international monetary conference, but the best information obtainable is to the effect that in case the call is issued the President will, by authority of the law enacted during the last session, appoint the three delegates necessary to complete the commission on behalf of this country. Nearly all of his best friends express the opinion that he will not forego any opportunity that promises substantial progress to promote an international agreement on this question, but adds that he will, in all probability, prefer to see the terms of the call before taking action.

San Francisco Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Carr "put it on" Harry Griffin in the fifth race today. Carr landed game old Jack Richelieu winner by a nose in a most desperate finish with Griffin on Quirt. It was a magnificent ride, and the colored boy was roundly cheered for his victory.

Railroad Agent Robbed.

SAN LUIS OBISPO March 29.—About half past 8 o'clock this evening two men, one masked, entered the depot of the Pacific Coast railroad at Arroyo Grande and presenting revolvers at the agent, H. E. Fry and his assistant Hartwell, who were alone, compelled them to open the company's safe, in which was about $100 in coin which the robbers took, together with Fry's gold watch. The robbers escaped and nothing has yet been heard of them.

McCloskey Brothers Bound Over.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., March 29.—Judge Walker today bound over to the district court in $5000 each, the McCloskey brothers, lessees of the Pikes Peak mine at Cripple Creek, who are charged with concealing much valuable ore and defrauding the Union Company out of a large amount of royalties.

CERTIFICATE FRAUDS

The Prisoners Dispirited and Refuse to Talk.

THREE WILLING TO SQUEEL

The Revenue Officers Put On to a Big Opium Smuggling Scheme.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Ferdand Ciprico, Harston L. Foss, D. J. Sullivan (ex-deputy tax collector), Max Katzauer and Moses Greenwald were all arraigned before United States Commissioner Heacock today. They are charged with forging a certificate of residence issued to a Chinese contrary to the amended law of November 3, 1893, and also with conspiracy. The penalty is a term of imprisonment not to exceed five years.

When the men appeared before the commissioner they had nothing to say in their behalf. Attorney T. D. Riordan, who appeared for them, waived the reading of the information, and then Commissioner Heacock set the bail in the cases of Foss, Ciprico and Katzauer at $10,000 each, and that of Greenwald and Sullivan at $5000 each. Mr. Riordan made an attempt to have the bail reduced on the ground that two of his clients could not possibly raise the $10,000 bail, and consequently would have to remain in jail until their cases were tried. The United States district attorney objected, and the hearing of the matter was put over until next Monday at 2 p.m. The prisoners accordingly had to spend another night in jail, but the chances are that some of them will get out on bail tomorrow.

Among the men suspected but not arrested are a brother-in-law of Ciprico and a couple of people now in Oregon. Ciprico is a great friend of Foss, and the pair were often seen in conference on the dock. A man known as "Opium Brown" is also said to have been in the plot, but the internal revenue officers have not sufficient evidence against them to warrant an arrest.

From information that is now leaking out it appears that some of the men under arrest were not only engaged in the manufacture and sale of forged certificates, but also in the opium smuggling business. The drug was brought here from Victoria and shipped to Honolulu, where two of the five-tael cans are said to be worth $50. When Foss got wind that the revenue people were on his trail he telephoned for a deputy collector, saying that he wanted to give information of a big scheme to defraud the United States government. To the man sent by Collector Welborn, he said there was a big opium deal on foot by which the drug was to be shipped to Honolulu by the wholesale.

The men suspected of being in the deal are now out of town, but Revenue Agents Metzhelin and Thomas expect to catch them in a few weeks. If the men now in jail are to be believed, there are two gangs among last night's arrests. Ciprico, Foss and Sullivan assert that they never saw Katzauer or Greenwald in their lives before until yesterday, when they all met in the United States marshal's office. The three men of the first named were all caught in the Wells-Fargo building, while Katzauer and Greenwald were caught in the "Castle" saloon, corner of Stockton and O'Farrel streets. The latter profess not to know anything about the fraudulent certificates and say they can prove their innocence.

This morning the prisoners were taken in charge by the United States marshal. They were all very much dispirited, and refused to talk. It is understood, however, that Greenwald, Sullivan and Foss are ready to make a confession. Ciprico, too, it is said, is willing to tell of his connection with the ring.

The authorities will make three charges against each of the conspirators. They will be accused of conspiring to forge a government document, of forging Collector Welburn's name and also of violating section 8 of the exclusion act, which provides: "That any person who shall knowingly and falsely alter or substitute any name for the name written in a certificate, or forge such certificate, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $1000 or imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term of not more than five years."

With these charges against them it is believed the prisoners will have a hard time to escape. The evidence is so conclusive that the authorities are not inclined to heed the offers of several of the culprits to turn state's evidence.

That more arrests are to follow in connection with the certificate forgeries there is little doubt. In fact it is known that several other parties are suspected, and although still enjoying their liberty they are being kept under surveillance by the special agents.

The prisoner Foss has hinted to the officers that he could put them on the trail of a big gang of opium smugglers, who are operating between this port and Victoria and Honolulu.

Future Movements of War Ships.

WASHINGTON, March 29. — Future movements of ships are under contemplation in the navy department. Within a few months a number of vessels will go out of commission and some of the new vessels will reserve the men who have been doing duty on the old ships. One of the important changes to be made is the sending of the Olympia from Mare Island naval station to Honolulu to relieve the Philadelphia. The Philadelphia will be docked and scraped at Mare Island and will then go to the Asiatic squadron, relieving the flagship Baltimore. It is expected that within a short time the Chicago, now at New York, will go out of commission and her men will be transferred to the Amphrite, now at the Norfolk navy yard.

NEW PRIMARY ELECTION LAW

The new primary election law may properly be classed among the useful enactments of the late legislature. It will make impossible many of the frauds against an honest representation of party will, which has too frequently characterized primaries under the lax laws which have heretofore existed. The primary election really lies at the foundation of good government under our system, and should be as zealously guarded as any other election.

The new law will throw practically the same safeguards about the primaries that have been provided for general elections. The various parties, under the new law, must hold their primary elections upon the same day, under one set of election officers, and the party tickets must be designated by ballots of different colors. The penalties provided for fraudulent voting are the same as for general elections. The advantage of fixing one day for holding all the primaries is apparent to every one who has seen the will of the party defeated by the votes of irresponsible members of other parties. Under the new arrangement the voter can exercise his franchise but for one party without incurring the penalty of the law.

Primary election day under the new law is made a legal holiday, and a more general and earnest interest in the day can be confidently anticipated on the part of the substantial elements in the parties. It being no longer possible for political manipulators to turn the party primaries into a "howling farce," a very large number of conservative citizens who have heretofore neglected their duty in voting and working for the best interests of their party at its primaries, can reasonably be expected to perform their duty in that respect. The need of such a law has been long felt, and the legislature which passed it is entitled to commendation.

During the late free trade campaign a great deal was said about the benefit that would result to California from a reduced tariff on coal, which was 75 cents a ton under the McKinley act. The duty was reduced to 40 cents a ton, and just as the new tariff has got fairly into operation, the coal combine announces that the price will be advanced from $8 and $9 per ton to from $9.50 to $10 per ton, delivered in San Francisco. This is a fair sample of trust smashing under the Cleveland regime. The government loses a considerable amount of needed revenue and the consumer pays just as much or more for coal under the manipulation of the foreign combine. The result would have been the same had coal been put on the free list, except the government would have lost all instead of about one-half of the revenue it has been receiving from that source. The only effect in either case is to put the amount of the duty into the pockets of the foreigners instead of the national treasury.

If the Expositor's attacks upon the police force of this city are justified by the facts, what then must be said of the police regulations under the late Democratic regime? Every informed person knows that the laws are better enforced and more respected now than they were at that time, and they also know that if the police are failing or refusing to do their duty that the Democratic city marshal has but to report the fact to the City Trustees, and the responsibility will then rest upon them if they fail to take proper action. As the chief peace officer of the city and supervisor of the police his duty is plain, and if he fails to perform it the odium rests upon him. If these charges are not lies hatched by an irresponsible gang of political vagrants, who are known to be hanging around the slums of the city in the hope that they may soon disgrace the police department by becoming its members, why does not the city marshal do his duty and report the facts to the trustees?

In commenting on the governor's refusal to sign the new county government act, the esteemed Expositor says:

It is always easier to increase public expenses than to reduce them.

It is usually so, and this instance has not proven an exception to the rule. Republican legislators have been working earnestly to secure a reduction of county expenses ever since the Democratic office holders sent a sack to the legislature and had the old law amended to meet their views, but the road to reduction is a long and rocky one, and a gubernatorial veto is a pretty discouraging obstacle. The trouble seems to be that the several counties in their attempts to suit their varying conditions and ideas, make a patch-work of legislation that is almost inevitably a misfit in some respects. The Expositor's philosophy is correct. It would have been much better had the expenses of county government not been increased.

The news in this morning's Republican that work on the competing road will begin at Stockton, and within a period of from sixty to ninety days, will be received with pleasure throughout the valley. Since it has been decided that the main line is to come by way of the Santa Clara valley, the hope has been general that the branch road extending through the valley to the northern terminus at tidewater would be constructed first, because of the fact that it will bring competition to the valley in one-half the time that it could be reached by the main line. It is news for rejoicing that everything is progressing so satisfactorily for the new enterprize.

The State Board of Examiners is doing good work in curbing the dishonest extravagance of officials in state institutions, who have been living in princely luxury at the expense of the taxpayers. Let the good work go on.

A QUESTION OF EQUITY.

The Southern Pacific Company has filed a bill of equity against all the people who have sued the company for damages for not granting stop-over privileges to compel them to litigate all their causes of action in one suit, and to perpetually enjoin them from pursuing their rights. The suit is particularly aimed at Dr. Robinson of Alameda, who has done more, perhaps, than any one man in the state to make the railroad company question whether it is superior to the statutory law of the people. Here are the facts:

A statute provides that the railroad must give stop-over privileges to passengers. It is a law just as mandatory as another which provides that if a man is without means of support he must go to jail. But the railroad company brushed it aside and defied it as if it were meaningless prattle. Dr. Robinson demanded the stop-over privilege, and it was refused. He demanded it again, and yet again, and still he was refused. Then he began his actions under the law, and in doing so he represented the rights of the people. In every move that he made he was successful, for the intent of the statute was clear.

Now, beaten at every point, the railroad asks the courts to compel all causes of action to be litigated in one suit. It is better to clearly understand what a termination of this suit in the company's favor will mean, for there is not a possible passenger over a railroad in the state who is not interested in its outcome. It will mean that travelers hereafter will be discouraged from maintaining their rights. It will mean that they will submit to what the law designates as wrong, because they will feel that the courts are against them. It will mean that the railroad will continue to ignore a statute which should be enforced or stricken from our code. The Southern Pacific Company could afford to disregard an occasional just action for damages, and maintain its law-defying course; it is only a multitude of such suits that it need fear, or that can "bring it to time" in this matter.

It is not to be believed that the suit will be decided in the company's favor. Such a decision would amount to a notice that it may continue this defiance of the law at its own will.

The street commission of the San Francisco board of supervisors will not increase the esteem in which it is held by refusing to grant an extension of time for the completion of the Sutro railroad. Whatever may be the mayor's personal peculiarities, enough has been done on that railroad to guarantee the good faith in which it was begun, and the people will disapprove any obstacle that may be placed in the way of its completion. Mayor Sutro has directly charged that some of the members of the board are creatures of the Southern Pacific Company, and while the charge was little heeded at the time it was made, the board's hesitation to grant his request for a necessary extension of time lends much significance to it. If the board refuses his request the public will be apt to consider that his allegation has been pretty thoroughly sustained.

The recent report of a free fight in the Indiana legislature is now supplemented by a telegraphed account of a similar episode in the Nebraska senate. In the latter case, as in the former, blows were struck, whiskers pulled, and general bedlam reigned. Of course with the California senate scandal still staring a person in the face one doesn't feel like criticizing very freely, but it is natural to think of Nasby's story of the boy who wanted his father to move to Kentucky because "mighty mean men git office here." Apparently Kentucky does not stand alone.

RANDOM REMARKS.

Andrew Carnegie says that what the country needs is "a period of rest." I take my pen in hand, dear Andrew, to inform you that we are getting it—more rest than anything.

When the railroad comes you bet we'll see
Dull times pick up and business chirk,
An' a feller's smiles'll shine out free,
An' everybody'll go to work.
Oh, there'll be biz,
An' things'll sizz,
(Just pull out the stopper an' watch 'er fizz!)
An' we'll all be brothers and cordial chums,
When the railroad comes, when the railroad comes.

Count Brochner is on trial in San Diego for stealing a diamond ring. Of course if he did such a thing it is tough on the nobility, but it should be remembered in his favor that he is not charged with trying to trade his title for an American girl's fortune. There is considerable to be said in favor of Count Brochner.

Tyndall seemed uncontrollable. He trembled and his eyes looked wild.—As the Expositor saw his ride.

Considering that Tyndall had a heavy handkerchief over his eyes, permit the humble suggestion that it was your eyes, neighbor, and not his, that looked wild. That's right; we'll compromise the matter by saying that he trembled and your eyes looked wild. There, there! Don't get uncontrollable; that's Tyndall's part in your duet.

The brainless ass that penned the above infamous lie possibly expects some fool to give credence to such an unreasonable statement, as his natural inclination for lying could hardly be given as the sole cause.

The above scriptural reading, brethren and sisters, is from the Tulare Citizen, and it is addressed to the wicked editor of the Tulare Register, who is an unregenerated Republican. It merely indicates that things are picking up a good deal in the newspaper line in the county to the south of us. It's all in fun, you understand. The editor of the Citizen doesn't think that the Register man is a "brainless ass;" nobody does. He is merely trying to express his ideal of "journalism" in a few well-chosen and trenchant words, with the flavor of the raw frontier upon them. The case is not serious—only amusing.

ITEMS FROM COYOTE RANCH.

The Republican is pleased to acknowledge the receipt of correspondence detailing the neighborhood events at Coyote Ranch. As all of the paper except this department had gone to press at the time of its arrival, it was found necessary to run it in Random Remarks. We hope that Mr. J. Bird—to whom our thanks our due—will send some more of his valued correspondence, as it livens up the paper right smart. Here is his first contribution:

Wild geese are flying north. This is a sign that spring has come.

At the Perhosculi literary society meeting at Tubbs' school house last Wednesday night a lovely time was had. William Fogg recited a declamation called "Spartacus to the Gladiators" in a splendid manner, and Estelle Smythe declaimed a recitation called "The Bridge" very impressive. Miss Smythe wore a lovely dress that fit her beautiful.

Our esteemed townsman, R. K. Hellerman, is building a shed, and Peter Potiphar will whitewash his barn this summer. Coyote Ranch is trembling on the verge of a boom.

A mouse got in the schoolhouse Thursday morning, but Miss Sweetum, the talented schoolma'am, got on the desk where she could see better and told the boys how to kill it; so no harm was did. Miss Sweetum is noted for her bravery. School took up just the same in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Needum and their cow have twins. So few people have twin babies and calves at the same time that they have a great many visitors, who all say that they are uncommonly nice animals, red with a white spot in their foreheads, and Mrs. Needum says that they do not cry much nights. They are now old enough to hunt everybody that comes near them. They have large blue eyes and look just like their father. The mother is very proud of them and licks them impartially. She gives a patent-pail full of milk.

We are having a new moon.
The weather here is quite wet.

J. BIRD.

A Nebraska Senator died, and went
To where the future of sinners is spent.
He heard the oaths of the lying wights,
Who quarreled and fought in their earthly nights:
He heard their shrieks—'twas a sound of gloom—
As they cried: "Roll over and give me room!"
And he said, as he gazed on the Stygian pen:
"I guess that I'm back in the Senate again."

TYNDALL THE WONDER

HIS NOONDAY DRIVE THROUGH FRESNO'S STREETS.

A Successful Quest and a Bewildered Crowd—The Night Performance at the Barton.

A curious and somewhat noisy crowd surged around Fulton G. Berry's office at the Grand Central a little before noon yesterday. Tyndall's famous blind-fold drive to recover a secreted object was about to be accomplished.

In very short order a committee was selected, consisting of O. J. Woodward, Fulton G. Berry, W. Parker Lyon and Dante R. Prince. After several individuals had declined the honor of secreting the article to be found by Tyndall, Professor F. X. Mayer consented to do the work. In a few minutes the committee was shut up in Fulton G. Berry's office and Tyndall came up the street esquired by Robert G. Barton. Parker Lyon removed his deputy sheriff's badge and showed it to the mind-reader. A moment later the article was handed to Mr. Mayer, who went out with the committee. Tyndall remained behind with Fulton G. Berry's brother, and a representative of the Republican to whom he handed for safekeeping a letter containing his last wishes in the case of his death or other accident. Tyndall is subject to cataleptic fits, not a wonderful matter considering his highly-strung nervous organization and the tension produced by his experiments. Just as soon as the committee's carriage had rolled away the mind-reader began to walk up and down the narrow room in a restless, fidgetty way and complained of heat. He was conducted into a larger and more airy apartment in the rear.

The committee returned in about twenty minutes, and the mind reader was blindfolded and put aboard the vehicle, occupying the front seat. The reins were handed him and O. J. Woodward under his instructions took his left hand, Tyndall driving with his right. From the very start he kept the team going at full speed, and the committee looked decidedly nervous all through the trip. Very soon after starting Mr. Woodward allowed his mind to wander from the secreted article and Tyndall immediately "lost sight of it." Fulton G. Berry relieved Mr. Woodward, and succeeded in keeping his mind so riveted on the badge that Tyndall whirled along like a bloodhound striking a strong scent. The route was by way of Tulare street to the Fresno flouring mill at the corner of K and Fresno streets. Without the least hesitation Tyndall pulled up, got down from his seat, and still holding Berry's hand, rushed frantically to a pile of sacks filled with coal, throwing the heavy sacks around as if they had been straws. He found the badge just where Mayer had secreted it, and drove back still blindfolded to the Grand Central, where his arrival was greeted with rousing cheers.

He was covered with perspiration, and trembled all over like a person with an ague chill. There was a wild look on his face, and his pulse a minute after his arrival was 140 full and hard. Ten minutes later he put on his hat and walked home as if nothing had occurred.

The document which Tyndall handed to the reporter for safekeeping contained an express request that no autopsy be performed on his body if he should soon to die in the performance of the feat. Tyndall has a nervous dread of sharing the fate of Irving Bishop, the mind reader, who was "autopsied" some years ago under circumstances which leave a painful belief in many minds that he was not really dead.

At the Barton opera house last night an exhibition of mind-reading was given, which was in every way satisfactory. The lecturer stated that he discovered seventeen years ago that he was able to read the thoughts of others. That was in London, where he was a medical student at the time. Since then he has been before the public almost constantly.

In his tests last night he failed in no instance; but once Louis Einstein was able to lead him astray by fixing his thoughts on the wrong object; but the lecturer detected the fact, and when R. B. Butler took Mr. Einstein's place, the object of the search was at once discovered. All of the tests were performed by Tyndall while blindfolded. He could describe persons without seeing them, even to the minutest peculiarities of dress. He did this by grasping the hand of some one who knew about these things, and expressing the thoughts of this person.

S. L. Hogue who said he did not know one card from another was shown two cards; and the lecturer, by grasping his hand, described the figures on the cards, and by that means told their names. He will remain in Fresno a few days.

JORDAN'S EXAMINATION

Begun in Selma Yesterday — A Runaway Delays the Case.

The preliminary examination of Frank Jordan for killing Boyd Balthrop was begun yesterday at 1 o'clock before Justice Tucker in Selma. Deputy District Attorney George W. Jones represented the people and James A. Burns appeared for the defendant. Miss Lou Bearden, official stenographer, went down to report the case. Four witnesses were examined during the afternoon, after which the case was continued till 9 o'clock this morning. Nothing new was developed yesterday.

The examination was to begin at 10 o'clock, but on account of a runaway two miles this side of Selma, Attorney Jones was not able to begin with the case until 1 o'clock.

The king bolt of the buggy dropped out, letting the front truck from under the buggy. The horses went down the road with two wheels, and Mr. Jones and Miss Bearden were left with the other portion of the vehicle. No damage was done except what the buggy suffered.

A Fresnoan in Luck.

H. M. Abrams, of the Bodega, came down from the city on the early morning train today to congratulate Manager Goldschmidt who drew a $5000 prize in the lottery yesterday. Goldschmidt is popular, anyhow, but he never knew how many friends he had till they crowded into the Bodega yesterday as soon as the news spread on the street. He has deposited the ticket for collection.

A HARD LOT.

The Sorry Campaign Conducted by the Fusionists.

The hard lot of a party and a paper which must conduct an unpopular political campaign is seen daily in this city of late, and a special instance of it was exhibited in last evening's Expositor, where mention was made of a fight at Degan's, and that no arrests were made, although the biggest policeman in the city was standing by. The reason assigned was that the parties, or one of them, was a Republican politician.

This article lacks one of the essential elements to give it weight; it is not true. The biggest policeman in the city is Anderson, and he denounces the statement that there was a fight as false, so far as he knows. If he was standing by, he certainly would know.

There is nothing surprising in such articles as that. It is a part of the campaign which the friends of the pinto ticket are carrying on. The Republicans conduct their campaign on the principles of fairness, honesty and truthfulness, and have no occasion for resorting to the methods adopted by the fusionists. The people understand the difference in the two methods, and the best party will have the best support. Misrepresentations soon play their part and cease to be effectual.

BURST THE LINKS.

A Divorce Granted in San Francisco to Mrs. Lillian Denicke.

The divorce machinery in Fresno county did not run smoothly enough to suit Mr. and Mrs. Denicke. They tried a time or two and met with such poor success that they transferred their field of court operations to San Francisco, and the report goes that they have met with more success, and that the links of the galling chain have been burst asunder at one blow of the divorce court hammer of the metropolis, and that those two hearts which formerly beat as one will henceforth beat as two.

The grounds on which Mrs. Denicke secured the divorce were cruelty. There was nothing new discovered in the case, and after the San Francisco judge heard the tale of woe, he decided that it was a case where the parties should be allowed to go their separate ways.

In the judgment Mrs. Denicke is given a considerable amount of property in money and mortgages. It is understood that this settlement had been previously agreed on by Major and Mrs. Denicke.

PURSUIT OF LAWSON.

Some People Inclined to Look Upon It as an Early Fish Story.

What has become of Jim Lawson? At present he is somewhere free from any molestation of officers. The last heard of him was when he swam Kings river and escaped from Constable Street. Immediately after this occurrence the sheriff's office telephoned repeatedly to Reedley for information concerning the pursuit. None in Reedley seemed to know where the constable was, and it was naturally supposed that he was determinedly following Lawson into the mountains.

But the facts of the case prove to be different. In the first place, Street heard that a man answering Lawson's description was working on a ranch on the north side of the river some distance above Reedley. The officer then telegraphed to Sheriff Westfall in Madera for an exact description of Lawson, which was immediately answered by telegraph. Street thus telegraphed back to Madera asking what the reward for Lawson's capture was. He was answered that it was $25.

Officer Street and his posse then went to where Lawson was working and had a talk with him. Lawson suddenly bolted and made for the river a short distance off. He swam across to the south side and stopped on the opposite bank. The river not being very wide at this point, Lawson and Street could easily carry on a conversation.

"What do you want me for?" called out Lawson.

Constable Street answered that he was wanted in Visalia.

"I know what you want me for," replied Lawson; "I am Lawson who broke jail at Madera, and I know you want me for that."

Lawson then set off and the constable and posse went down to a bridge below and crossed to the other side. They followed Lawson's tracks a mile and a half and then gave up the chase.

According to this Lawson is in all probability up in Chris Evans' old stamping ground. This territory has a reputation of being one of the safest places for the Lawson kind of people. But if a vigorous pursuit were made it would only be a question of time when Lawson would again be behind the bars. Sam Westfall, the sheriff of Madera county, says that the salary he receives is not sufficient for him to spend much money in the pursuit of the outlaw; in fact he is unable to make any extended trips to the mountains. These journeys are expensive.

But it is said that a new law was passed by the late legislature allowing him two additional deputies. If this is correct it is probable that the pursuit of Lawson will be taken up in earnest.

There are many who do not give credence to the story of Constable Street's recent encounter with Lawson. It is reported that he has given several different versions of the affair. One was that he jumped into the river after Lawson and swam half across, but there gave up the race and turned back. Many other queer statements of the affair are reported to have been made by the constable of Reedley.

FOR CO-OPERATION.

A CORRESPONDENT DISCUSSES THE QUESTION.

He Believes the Plan is Practicable and Needs Only United Action.

Editor Republican:—The calm prevailing in regard to the movement inaugurated a few weeks ago to organize co-operative companies among the raisin growers is causing alarm, uneasiness and painful forebodings among many growers about the future fate of the raisin industry and those engaged in it.

I wish again to raise my voice through the medium of the press in favor of the proposed organization of co-operative companies in this valley and state where raisins are produced.

It has been fully demonstrated that neither a "bond of honor" nor a gold bullion check will bind and check the commission gentry from slaughtering the growers' produce consigned to them in the markets of the country. Every grower joining a co-operative company ought to give a $250 bond for every twenty acres of vines in bearing to bind himself to deliver all the raisins and dried grapes produced on his vineyard this year to the company, to be sold in connection with the raisins and dried grapes of other growers in the company. The bond is to guard against the sweat-box-cash-bait which will be held out for the sole purpose of defeating the object of the company.

Will we permit the packers and shippers of our produce to tumble one over the other to put their pack on the market, and thereby trample us financially under foot?

My father was not a prophet, nor does his son Adam claim prophetic gift; but I predict that, if the growers fail to combine, the next move of the packers will be to put the dried fruit on the commission block, to be slaughtered the same as raisins have been the past two or three years. Don't forget, but keep this prediction in mind.

Fresno business men made a big effort, and raised money to defray the expense of a committee to go to Washington to impress on congress, and especially on the ways and means committee, the absolute necessity of a tariff on imported raisins and currants to protect the California growers from financial ruin; but it seems the 1½ cent per pound or $30 per ton tariff does not help the growers to realize a better price, but on the contrary, they are getting one-half to two-thirds less for their low grade raisins and dried grapes, under the present commission system, than before the tariff on currants.

Now let the business men of California, of the San Joaquin valley and especially of Fresno, the center of the raisin industry, assist the growers to abolish the ruinous commission system; then the growers will get the benefit of the tariff, and the business men will share in the benefit because the growers will receive more money for their crops, enabling them to buy more merchandise, farming implements and building material.

Fellow growers, when you hear a flock of geese flying over your heads, look up and learn organization and combination wisdom, and see in what military discipline they fly, following the leader in a positive direction and destination; and when a charge of duck shot is fired among them they scatter to decrease the number and danger of being killed, thereby making good and wise use of the instinct the Creator has bestowed on them. Let us also make wise use of the intellect and reason with which the Creator has endowed us, and unite for self protection and not scatter, for that will expose us to greater danger of financial ruin.

Abraham Lincoln, author of the emancipation proclamation by which the shackles of slavery were taken off the hands of 4,000,000 people, once said: "You can fool some of the people all the time, and all the people some of the time; but you can't fool all the people all the time."

Will the raisin growers of California verify Lincoln's assertion, "but you can't fool all the people all the time," by organizing co-operative companies, the presidents of the same to constitute a board of directors to control the packing, shipping and sale of the raisins? Or will the growers disprove Lincoln's assertion by not organizing, and continue to submit to be fooled by signing the packers' consignment contracts and buckle the financial shackles on their hands?

To the growers who labor under the idea that the commission system will finally regulate itself for their benefit, I will say that consumptive and cancer patients have as good and well-grounded hope to be restored to health without suitable remedies to eradicate the malady from their system. This class of growers are under the same delusion as the thirsty traveler on the desert following the mirage to reach the lake to quench his thirst. And the growers clamoring to hold for cash in the sweat box I will say that the only way to bring that about is by united, firm and strong combination of the growers. Without that, the cash in the sweat box clamor will be a dream and a delusion.

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of uniting the growers is the numerous and different nationalities existing among them. Therefore, I appeal to the business men of the same nationality to use their influence with their people to organize and join raisin companies to better their financial condition and thereby make their occupation and life more pleasant for all of us.

It is an easy matter for you business men to meet and discuss the affair of such vast and lasting importance to all the people.

I assert that not even in India, Turkey, Japan or China has a commission scheme or system been forced on the tillers of the soil to deprive them of a just reward for their labor like that of the commission system here.

I harbor no personal hatred against the packers; but if it were in my power I would banish their scheme out of the San Joaquin valley into Death valley.

Fellow farmers, in the foregoing I have described my dislike and disapproval of the packers' system under which they have been selling our produce to the great dissatisfaction of at least nine-tenths of the growers, in disconnected and ungrammatical sentences, in unclassical language, because my training has not been in a high school, college or university, but behind the plow; therefore I expect you will make due allowance for errors. But in view of the fact that a large majority of the people are dissatisfied, it is certainly opportune to make a united effort to drive the commission system out. This hydra is devouring the people's financial support and income. It is rendering them unable to support their families in a decent and respectable manner; to provide and keep in repair their farm utensils; leaving them without a dollar in time of sickness and old age.

In conclusion, I exhort you to organize, and when the raisin temple is completed and dedicated (without any commission deities) the honors will be distributed impartially in solid coin to every man and woman having stock in the same, according to the quantity and quality of his or her crop.

And if there is a surplus of raisins, or more than can be sold at a profit to the grower, we will feed them to hogs; for a ham or side of pork fattened on raisins and dried grapes is better for a hungry man than a commission packer's type-written statement of figures, without any money in it, and for such pork there is a market at home, without seven, eight or nine charges to lift the same to the mouth of the consumer. I think this is enough and plenty to satisfy both growers and packers; but if not there is some ink left in the bottle of the same quality as that with which this letter was written.

Adam Beaver.

Fresno will feel peculiar if the valley railroad passes by on the east and builds up the towns of Clovis and Sanger, and leaves this city alone its glory. Stockton and San Jose are making efforts to secure the road.

Rev. William Copp, whose father was a physician for over fifty years, in New Jersey, and who himself spent many years preparing for the practice of medicine, but subsequently entered the ministry of the M. Cottolene—the new shortening—the only pure and healthful and perfectly digestible frying and shortening material in the market—is now to be had at all first-class grocers throughout the United States and Canada.

How to use it

In using Cottolene for shortening, it is of the greatest importance to use only about one-half or two-thirds as much as would be used of lard. This is essential to success in the cooking, as well as an important feature for one's pocket book.

Nothing Like it

Cottolene, like all other good things, has found several imitators, all of very inferior quality, and sure to cause dissatisfaction. To be sure of getting the genuine Cottolene, the best way to buy it is in the tin pails bearing the name and Trade-Mark.

SPIRITS OF THE AIR

Do They Whisper to Professor Tyndall?

MARVELOUS DEMONSTRATIONS

Of Clairvoyancy at the Hughes Hotel.

A Few Days More—Your Last Chance.

Who foretold the death of Carter Harrison, late mayor of Chicago? Who stood on the docks at Liverpool and called the turn on the city of Boston before she sunk in the Atlantic ocean? Who now predicts President Cleveland's death before his term expires?

It is Prof. Tyndall, who is recognized by the press, pulpit, medical faculty and scientists generally, as the most distinguished psychologist of modern times. If you are in doubt that he can and will perform all he claims, feel yourself invited to call and he will give you more substantial proof of his marvelous power than you have ever before received from mortal. Don't fail to see him if you are interested in the affairs of life. If marriages, sickness, deaths, changes, travels, divorces, separations, lawsuits, business transactions, wills, deeds and mortgages lost or stolen property, hidden treasures, lost or absent friends interest you. If you care to know what you should do to be more successful, where you should go, and whom to avoid, when to buy and sell stocks etc. If you desire to have your domestic troubles removed, your love restored, your bitter enemies converted into staunch friends. In a word, whatever may be your troubles, suspicions or desires, call on the gifted man and he will send you away happier, wiser and bolder than before.

What is your vocation in life? How have you prospered? What are your hopes for the future? Every person is especially adapted to some particular business, profession or trade, which may justly be termed the true vocation, and yet more than half of you are fighting against an unknown fate for fame, fortune and position, which you do not and cannot obtain until you find your true vocation.

If you are contented with your present work, you have found your true vocation and success will attend you, but if dissatisfied and all is going against you, it is an evidence that you have not found your true vocation. A visit to Prof. Tyndall will soon settle this all important question and your true vocation will be pointed out to you, and if possessed of only a moderate degree of brains and energy success will be sure to attend you. He advises you with a certainty by a higher than human power as to the proper course to pursue in life. His discriptions of your friends and enemies are as real as though they stood before you. Call and test the doctor to your heart's content, and you will depart thoroughly satisfied that there is at least one reliable psychologist and clairvoyant now in your midst.

Office hours—10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily and Sunday. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by mail. Letters with one dollar answered. All business sacred and confinential. Parlors so arranged that you meet no strangers. Sickness, losses, deaths, etc., etc., will be omitted from reading at your request; otherwise everything, good and bad will be given

JUDGE WALLACE RETURNS.

The Attorney for the West Side Settlers Gives Status of Cases.

From the Visalia Delta.

Judge W. B. Wallace of this city returned yesterday evening from Washington, D. C., where he has been recently as counsel in the case of the West Side settlers and the Southern Pacific.

The cases in which Judge Wallace is interested were decided in favor of the settlers by Judge Ross of the United States circuit court in 1890. In 1893 an adverse decision was rendered, and later in the same year the matter was again reargued and taken under advisement.

Two similiar cases had been appealed to the United States supreme court, and these were recently withdrawn by the Southern Pacific Company, which was a clear surrender on the part of the railroad company.

Judge Ross has no doubt been awaiting the action of the supreme court before again rendering a decision, and it is not probable now that his decision can be otherwise than favorable to the settlers. The cases in which the West Side settlers are interested are in the same condition as those appealed and withdrawn, and Judge Wallace thinks therefore that the final result will be all the settlers could have expected.

Professor J. M. Wood is in the city, and will arrange to give a concert assisted by local musical talent. Professor Wood gave a concert in Fresno seventeen years ago.

A RECHERCHE AFFAIR.

Classic Quotations From Old Mother Goose.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Stephens gave a reception last night in honor of Misses Frankie and Emma Buckner of Missouri, who are visiting them. Their spacious residence on S street was thronged by a large number of Fresno's society people. An amusing feature of the entertainment was the pen and ink sketches of different parts of "Mother Goose," from which each guest had to give an appropriate quotation on the sketch he was presented with. Miss Russie Martin won the first prize by giving the most exact quotation. Frank Homan's mind wandered. He gave some gem from The Man About Town. He was awarded the booby prize. Singing and music contributed to the evening's entertainment. An elegant repast was served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Merriam, Mrs. C. H. Hotaling, Mrs. B. F. Gray, Misses Margaret Kennedy, Sophie Reese, Lena Butler, Sadie Clark, Blanche Hotaling, Lou Landrum, Maud Williams, Marie Arbuckle, Daisy Rountree, Lela Ryan, Ada Harvey, Myrtle Harrell, Carrie Stevens, Maggie Harrell, Louise DeWitt, Rose Kennedy, Estelle Duke, Maggie and Edith Eames, Daisy Williams, Kittie Hughes, Russie Martin, Mary Williams, Mary and Bettie Maupin, Hettie Lowden, Nora Meadows, Muriel and Frankie Martin, Nellie Knowlton, Ora Stephens and Miss Clark; Messrs. Frank Homan, G. W. Wade, W. W. Parsons, Harold Freman, E. C. White, Frank Neate, Dr. G. A. Miller, L. W. Moultrie, G. C. Freman, W. C. Harvey, S. J. Ashman, N. H. Peterson, Charles Teague, E. J. THE HIGH SCHOOL SENATE.

The Fifth Anniversary Is Duly Celebrated.

The high school senate last night celebrated the fifth anniversary of its organization by exercises designed especially for the occasion. There was a bill introduced by Nock to provide for the laying of the Pacific cable to the Hawaiian Islands. Potter introduced a bill providing for the regulation of the postoffice department and postal rates. After this came the debate of the evening. It was on the resolution that postmasters be elected for terms of four years.

The chief points made for the affirmative were that by electing these public servants they would be taken out of the hands of politicians who use the appointing power to further their own ends or to strengthen their hold on office. The congressman often performs some service for those higher in power than himself, and in return is given a certain number of offices to fill by appointment. The elective system would abolish this.

The chief point in the argument for the negative was that the present system is satisfactory, and it is best to let well enough alone. The question was decided in favor of the negative by a vote of 21 to 12.

After the debate there were addresses made, suited to the occasion. F. M. Lane, who was president of the senate up to one year ago, spoke on the organization, work and development of that body, and of the prospects for the future. Professor Heaton delivered a lecture on pictures, pointing out the strong points in the works of different artists.

AMUSEMENTS.

The "Fencing Master" Presents Itself at the Barton Wednesday.

As an attraction for Fresno theatergoers, Manager Barton has secured that most popular and pleasing of all comic operas, the "Fencing Master." To the majority of music lovers the opera is already familiar, but there is an added element in it that on the coming visit will give it a new zest and make it a delightful surprise. The new feature is Dorothy Morton as Francesca. Not only a marvelously gifted singer, she has the indescribable charm of face, figure and fascination that make her the ideal heroine of De Koven and Smith's romantic story. The chorus especially is rich in beauty, voice and figure. The scenery is new and the costumes more resplendently handsome than ever.

THE WRIT DISMISSED.

Officer Crutcher Will Bring Ah Souie to Fresno.

A telegram was yesterday received from Deputy Constable Crutcher from Los Angeles stating that the habeas corpus proceedings in Ah Souie's case had been dismissed. Crutcher stated that he would bring Ah Wing's suspected murderer to Fresno on the next train.

After Crutcher arrested the Chinaman in Los Angeles he took a buggy and drove to San Fernando, a station this side, to escape habeas corpus proceedings. At San Fernando he had to wait for the train. This gave the sheriff time to catch him and serve the habeas corpus writ which some of Ah Souie's friends had secured from the superior court of Los Angeles. But when Crutcher showed his warrant to the court he was allowed to proceed with his man.

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

Fresno's Exhibit at the Los Angeles Fiesta.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce having in charge the subject of Fresno's exhibit at the Los Angeles Fiesa, recently applied to the officials of the Southern Pacific railroad for reduced rates on the float and other articles shipped from here to Los Angeles to be used in the great show in that city. Harry Sherwood of the committee received a telegram last night from Huntington offering free transportation for the exhibit and for two attendants who will go with it to take care of it. This generous offer was rather more than was expected, but it will be accepted with thanks.

The county will endeavor to send an exhibit to the southern city which will compare favorably with any of the others. The fiesta will be a great affair and Fresno cannot afford to fall behind the procession.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

MISS CHAMBERS, WHO HAS WON LAURELS AS AN ARTIST.

Society Mending Its Ways—Determined Philadelphia Women—Odd Waists and Skirts The Modern Hostess—The Spool Book Rack—The Colorado Assembly.

In one of the new studios at Carnegie hall the walls are adorned with some very worthy examples of a woman's work in pastel and oil.

It is the work of Miss Ada Campbell Chambers, who has recently come to New York from Paris. Miss Chambers is an English woman, a connection of the well known literary family of that name, who were the founders of Chambers' Journal.

She began her art career in Calderon's school in London, where she remained for several years, and for the past three years she has been in Paris under the direction of MM. Bouguereau, Lefebre, Fleury and Ferrier. Before studying in Paris, Miss Chambers had executed some 50 portraits in black and white of the nobility in the midland counties of England.

In the past two years Miss Chambers' portraits hold a place of honor in the Paris salon, and especially at the last exhibition, where they were classed and hung on the line. One was a fine pastel of a very pretty French girl, Mlle. Brigand, and the other was a beautiful head of an old comtesse. The first salon picture was bought by a daughter of Sir Edward Leighton, bart.

One is impressed by the bold and vigorous stroke in Miss Chambers' work, and it has been frequently commented upon that while she is so gentle mannered and thoroughly feminine in her ways "she paints like a man." One example of her work is very impressive. It pictures a peculiar type of an old man, a model at once recognized by all artists of Paris. The canvas is barely concealed, and yet the portrait is there in its full strength, with its wonderful high lights and shadows. When the master Lefebre came to criticise it, Miss Chambers began to explain that it was still unfinished, but Lefebre interrupted her at once with an emphatic command: "Not another stroke. You would ruin it. It is now complete."—New York Recorder.

Society Mending Its Ways.

Until recently more than three-fourths of all mistresses who did not wish to see callers instructed the maid or footman to say "not at home," and the lie was called a white one, if any kind of a one, and excused on the ground that "not at home" was merely a formula for saying not at home to callers.

This winter the attendant is bidden to say, "Yes, Mrs. Blank is at home, but begs to be excused." Nobody but a peddler thinks of arguing the matter after this. A card is left, and the caller retires with no thought of a slight, understanding that the message is given in good faith, for one of a great many possible excellent reasons, and not to him or her exclusively, but to all who may call.

Many hostesses who "have a day" when they are at home to all callers are obliged to deny themselves at nearly all other times in order to reserve time needed for their thousand and three other duties or pleasures, whether social, domestic or what not.

People who do not call upon regular visiting days cannot be disappointed at not finding a friend free to receive them. And, whether one has or has not a visiting day, it is so polite and honest and excusable withal to plead an engagement of some sort that requires one to be excused from seeing chance callers the latter cannot possibly take offense if they are sensible. And those who are not sensible will be mollified by the fact that the usage, in good society, has come in with a vim that promises permanency.

In addition to saving consciences some slight shock the new regime of asking to be excused instead of saying one is out is a decent consideration for the morals of the servant. The most impassive servant always betrays the lie in repeating a "not at home" order when it is untrue. Moreover, not infrequently the family carriage at the door or some other sign betrays the presence of the mistress within, though she is invisible.

All society is mending its ways. It has just set its fashionable face against any entertaining on Sunday other than a dinner strictly en famille, and now right and left it is telling the truth politely to callers whom it is not possible or convenient to receive.

If it should become fashionable to tell only the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—but there, the millennium has not got here yet. It's merely dawning.—Dinah Sturgis in Chicago Record.

Determined Philadelphia Women.

That the women of Philadelphia have determined to do all in their power to ameliorate the condition of those who work in factories and sweat shops is plainly shown by the organized efforts of several prominent associations which have taken the matter in hand. The subject of factory inspectors was discussed at the last meeting of the social science section of the Civic club, and as an outcome from that discussion the following letter was sent to Governor Hastings:

"We have been informed that it is the intention of the present administration to make a change in the factory inspection force of the state, and we beg most respectfully that such a measure may be reconsidered, and that in conformity with the principles of civil service reform good and competent officers shall not be dismissed unless they have failed to perform their duties in a satisfactory manner. There is a provision in our factory laws for women inspectors, and we are informed on reliable authority that good work has been done by Miss Mary O'Reilly, and that as an official she has no superior and is a credit to the city of Philadelphia and the state of Pennsylvania. We would therefore especially ask that she be retained; also that if possible more women inspectors be given to one part of the state, as there are many factories here employing women and children."—Philadelphia Press.

Odd Waists and Skirts.

As odd waists and skirts are the feature of the season, new ideas in both are constantly cropping up, writes Emma M. Hooper in The Ladies' Home Journal. This style is now standard and will continue for time indefinite. The coming summer promises to be the biggest cotton waist season yet known. Now we are wearing them of lace or net over silk; chiffon, gauze or crape over silk or satin; velvet, the soft finished liberty satin, striped and figured changeable taffetas and a few plaids in velvet and silk. All colors and combinations are worn in this useful garment. Sleeves are to the wrist or elbow and very large. Fancy collars and ribbon belts are worn. Guipure lace yokes and epaulet ruffles abound, and in many instances a tiny fur edging finishes the lace trimming. Velvet and chiffon are combined with any material. Jet and ribbon are commonly used trimmings.

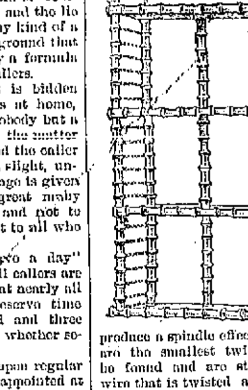

Some of the combinations are a silk waist, velvet sleeves, narrow belt and collar and yoke of lace vandykes. Another has pink chiffon over pink silk, with pink satin ribbon bretelles and bows, as well as belt, and a light green collar. Mink edges the collar and outlines the bretelles and belt. Black chiffon, net or gauze waists are made over colored silk and trimmed with black satin ribbons and a colored velvet collar. The waists are full in effect, though made over a boned lining. Six yards of silk are now allowed for a waist and the same of chiffon.

The Modern Hostess.

The modern hostess is overadvertised, like the modern actress. She has become indolent and fails to do her duty. She loves flattery and the daily mention of her jewels, clothes and entertainments, but she has no thought of her duties as a hostess. She is posing before a larger audience. The effect on the younger women is deplorable, and manners are getting to be a lost art. One is invited to entertainments that fail to entertain, and the lady of the house seems unconscious of the fact. New York, for its size and wealth, is not a gay city. The private balls are few and far between, the public subscription affairs are economically administered, and dances in private houses far too few. Were the city as gay as it ought to be, reporting theater clubs and luncheons would be an impossibility. Every large dinner is chronicled and the guests mentioned as if the event was unique and not soon to be repeated. Dancing classes are raised to the distinction of balls, whereas this cheap form of entertainment is closely allied to a hotel hop. The fact is that Americans are losing their love of home and its seclusion. We must return to the old fashions and old manners, and believe with me that as soon as a reporter enters the house elegance and refinement fly out of the window.—A Lady of the Old School in New York Sun.

The Spool Book Rack.

Upright and crosswise wires of proper length that are tightly secured provide a foundation for this rack, which is very artistic and effective, particularly at the ends, where the tiniest spools produce a spindle effect. These spools are the smallest twist spools that can be found and are strung on very fine wire that is twisted at each end to the heavier wire that supports the large spools. Shelves of moderate width are supported by the upright wires. It will be noticed that the wires which support the end rows of large spools are extended at the top, and a small loop is formed at each side for suspension. It is a good plan to save empty spools of all sizes, as they can be utilized for decorative purposes in various ways. Two sizes of spools are absolutely necessary in producing the artistic book rack described above. All articles composed of spools, or into the making of which they enter for decoration or practical use, must be given two or more coats of paint, enamel or gilding.

The Colorado Assembly.

The tenth general assembly of Colorado is gnashing its teeth and tearing its hair in distraction. The cause of this unparliamentary behavior is the fact that the English language has no pronouns for the common gender, and that the tenth general assembly of Colorado has three women among its representatives. Every sentence abounds with "he or she," "his or her," "him or her," until the ears and brains of the representatives are weary.

The three women who are members of the Colorado legislature are Mrs. Carrie Holly, Mrs. Frances Klock and Mrs. Clara Cressingham. They are said to be a credit to their sex in the way they accept their unique situation. They took the oath of office with dignity and with far more ease than some of the youthful masculine legislators. They were not overcome when their brethren, in a spirit of jocularity, appointed them a committee to escort the new speaker to the chair. They are self possessed and very watchful. They sit quietly behind their big desks from the time the speaker's gavel calls them to order until it is time to go home.—Chicago Post.

Hello Central!

What is the price of Stockton flour?
$3 a barrel and the freight on it to Fresno is $1.04.
That will cost me $4.04.
Correct.
How is it that Scott, the leading grocer, sells it for $2.80?
Simply because he keeps in the middle of the road, and being surrounded with so many customers for miles around gives him a dead cinch on us, so we cannot control him so long as he stays in the middle of the road and treats his customers well.
Scott gives 17½ pounds sugar for $1; you can only get 16 to ... All the advice I can give is to keep out of his customers' way so as they can find him at the Barton opera house.

AN ENJOYABLE DANCE.

Professor Munro's Pupils Compete for Prizes.

Notwithstanding the counter-attractions of two church societies and mindreader Tyndall's display at the Barton there was a big crowd of adults and juveniles at Professor Munro's hall last night. The occasion was the wind up of the first term of the dancing classes under the professor's instructions. Certainly not fewer than 200 persons took part in the dance at the close of the competition of the juveniles for the prizes.

In the Highland fling the successful juvenile competitors were Marguerite Risley and Elsa Einstein. In the advanced class Muriel Swain and Camille Lytton carried off the honors. In the waltz Sally Anderson was pronounced by the judges the best little lady waltzer, while Earl Curtis claimed the prize among the juvenile gentlemen. In the Highland schottische the judges decided in favor of Camille Lytton and Marion Ellis. The judges were Messrs. Alexander, Burleigh and Kaiser, and the pianist Miss Genevieve Swain.

Professor Munro has won deserved popularity, and the success of his teaching, especially among juveniles, was well attested on the floor last night.

According to the judges, J. W. Walker, a Scottish dancer of Fresno renown, with a Fresno lady, did not merit the first honors in the Highland schottische, but they were deserving of the unstinted praise of those present for the typical manner in which they represented this artistic dance as performed in the Highlands of Scotland.

Women Artists.

In "Making a Newspaper," the address delivered by Mr. Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, at Cornell university, this veteran journalist observed: "I ought to give perhaps some facts about the artists who are now employed on so many papers. Many of them are women. Women excel particularly in drawing fashion pictures, and a clever girl who really has talent will get perhaps $40 or $50 a week as a steady salary. That is, she can have it until she gets married and goes off. The salary of a good artist who draws whatever is required in a paper will be from $20 to $100 a week. He makes pictures so that they can be transferred to the plate, and that is all he has to do."—New York Tribune.

That Curly Bang Again.

Rumors from across the water intimate that the early bang will soon be receiving the old time homage. Snow white brows will soon be hidden from view, and thick curls will take the place of the demure and simple part. The only reassuring feature of the rumor is that it further states that the bang will not form a solid mass of curls straight across the forehead, but will have more the effect of full, curly mantagnes. That there is danger that the disfiguring bangs may soon be considered fashionable should be regarded with horror by all women, and as far as possible the fashion should be killed by the lack of patronage and favor before it has time to grow.—Exchange.

Since the introduction of Cod-liver Oil into the treatment of consumption, the average life of patients has increased from two to eight years. The number of cases cured in the early stages of the disease has multiplied, and physicians now assert that consumption can almost always be averted if good care and treatment are begun in time.

Cod-liver Oil ought always to be a part of the treatment, and it should be taken in the form of Scott's Emulsion, which is palatable and does not derange digestion. Scott's Emulsion is in every way superior to plain oil. Don't accept a substitute!

SPEED IS NO ACCIDENT. There is no excuse for owners of first class mares to breed them to anything but the best stallions. The get of great stallions are the only ones that will in the future pay the breeder a profit. The ones that sell for high prices will be sired by the stallions that are fashionably bred, and possessing a phenomenal flight o' speed. How can a horse that can't trot sire trotters?

ATHADON is a descendant of the Wilkes family, through his sire, he being a son of the great Onward 2:25¼, one of the very best sons of George Wilkes, and Onward's dam is the great brood mare Dolly, dam of Director 2:17, Thorndale 2:22 and Czarina 2:21. ATHADON'S dam is Athalie, and she is recognized among horsemen all over the United States as one of the greatest young brood mares living or dead, being the dam of ATHADON 2:27 at 1 year old; Athavis, who showed a 2:24 gait at 1 year old; Athanio 2:19¾ at 2 years old, timed in a race at 2:16¼, and Athinix, 2 years old, that Ed Geers drove an eighth of a mile in 17 seconds, a 2:16 gait. Athanio and Athinix were recently sold at better prices than any colts ever foaled in Fresno county. ATHADON'S dam through the male line is a descendant of Strathmore. The immediate descendants of Onward and Strathmore have produced more extreme early speed than any two other trotting sires. These two fountain heads of extreme early speed unite in ATHADON, and so is the only trotting developed stallion in the world that unites the blood lines.
